Where are the wild things?

Another summer rolls around and here is Fun For All again, emerging from those fantastical places of our collective imagination. Nine months of hibernation is ending and the familiar canopies are unfolding once again in parks around the city. I know the staff is really excited about our program this year and even though new state regulations have required us to say goodbye to the familiar wading pools*, rest assured, we have devised a variety of ways for young and old to get as wet as their hearts' desire.

If getting wet isn't your cup of tea... fear not. Your favorite games return, sprinkled with an extra dash of daring-do and more than a smidgen of sprightliness. Of course, I needn't remind you of our movie nights. I'm sure you'll find old favorites on the schedule as well as some you may not have heard of before. That's the nature of the wild though isn't it? You just never know what lies around the bend.

See you in the parks!

Senior Program Supervisor,

NOTICE:

Eugene Wading Pools Are Closed

Because the water in Eugene's community wading pools does not circulate, new State of Oregon regulations required their closure. Rebuilding these facilities to the new standards is cost prohibitive. For more information about this state regulation, refer to State Code 333-060-0505 at: http://arcweb.sos.state.or.us/rules/OARs_300/OAR_333/333_060.html

City Offers More than 100 Summer Camps

for Children of All Abilities, Age 2 ½ - 18 Years

Most camps are offered by the week, beginning June 21 through August 27. Fees vary and scholarships are available. Inclusion services are available for youth, age 5 -18, who may need extra assistance to enjoy their summer and are interested in participating in any City of Eugene day camp.

To learn more about all the City of Eugene camps and other classes offered this summer, or to register, see the Summer Recreation Guide or browse on-line at www.eugene.gov/recenroll (click on ("programs/classes" and then "camps") or call 541-682-5333.

Here are just some City of Eugene's summer camps:

Children

- Rec-create and Duckling Childcare - crafts, discovery, athletics, fun, and more.
- KidCity Preschool Education - exploration, discovery, movement, science and more
- Summer Play Adventure – create art, explore themes, sing songs, have fun.
- Soccer, gymnastics, skateboarding, gardening, and outdoor

Youth

- Art on the Amazon - Imagine, play and create. Visual and performance art, games and play.
- Morse Farm Outdoor Camp - Treasure hunts, art, imaginative outdoor play, field trips.
- KidCity Backyard Beach - art, sports adventures, field trips, more.
- Soccer Camps – English coaches and soccer professionals teach key skills
- Skate Board Camps – for beginners, girls only, or intermediate/advanced skaters.
- Deaf & hearing Impaired Camp – for youth experiencing a disability, siblings and friends: recreational games, arts and crafts, drama, more.
- I'm a Star Performance Camp - create your own story and perform It.
- Mad Doctor's Lab – explore the ways mad geniuses use science; field trip

Youth/Teen

- Archery - learn basic skills of compound bows; compete in a league
- Outdoor - Boating, white water rafting, kayaking, environmental, rock climbing, sailing, skateboarding, more.
- Aquatics - water polo league (the summer's best value!), swimming and tennis.
- Art and Culture – performance and dance, plus Culture Jam, a leadership camp presented in partnership with the Oregon Country Fair.
- Special interest: Junior Aquatics Staff: gain pre-job experience; Counselor-in-training: community service, trips.
- Adapted Camps - designed for teens experiencing a disability, their friends and siblings: four weeklong themes: animals, water, community, outdoors.

All Ages

- Swimming lessons – From age 6 months through adult; learn to be safe in, on or around the water.
